

Retaliation Is Feared in Haiti

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Diplomats feared today that the departure from Haiti of an Inter-American investigating commission would be followed by new and bloody repression of President Francois Duvalier's political foes.

Concern also spread because Duvalier's regime had offered safe conduct out of the country for only 15 of 22 Haitians who took asylum in the Dominican Republic's Embassy during a weekend wave of terror. The Dominican government was expected to insist that all 22 be allowed to leave prolonging the crisis between the two neighbors on the island of Hispaniola.

The six-nation mission from the Organization of American States planned to fly today to Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, to discuss the question of the refugees with President Juan Bosch and continue its investigation.

Informal sources said the Haitian government was refusing to let alleged leaders of plots against Duvalier leave the country but was willing to allow those considered lesser conspirators to go.

Duvalier's government reportedly made a similar offer with regard to nearly 100 others who have taken refuge in the embassies of Brazil, Chile, Venezuela and Ecuador.

Duvalier raised the threat of new repressions in a speech Tuesday night to a rally of 10,000 supporters.

"Those who are uncertain about what to do had better put themselves on my side," he declared. "At the moment when it becomes necessary to go into the streets, I will go with presidential guards and popular forces."

"The machine will crush the opposition."

Tension and fear gripped Haiti's ramshackle capital.

Four explosions were heard in the Beau Bouef section Tuesday night. Shortly after units of Duvalier's militia raced through the area and the sound of firing was heard.

More arrests were reported. The home of Clement Barbot, a friend of Duvalier who broke with him and vowed to seek his overthrow, was put to the torch. Barbot was believed hiding inside the country.

The United States sent another protest to Duvalier, complaining that the American Embassy's Continued on Page Five

Prosperity Dulling U.S. Conscience, Sen. Fulbright Tells Lecture Audience

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Prosperity appears to have benumbed the social conscience that brought Americans the benefits they now enjoy, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Wednesday.

Fulbright made the remarks in the third of a series of William L. Clayton lectures at the Tufts University Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

He told his audience "in our absorption with the pleasure of shiny new cars, a thousand gadgets of trivial utility and of the in-exhaustible inanities of television, we hardly notice that over four million Americans are unemployed, that our public schools are deteriorating tragically, that crime and corruption continue to spread over our cities."

The chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations said he felt it more important to tend to American domestic needs than engage in a race to the moon.

Of all the national enterprises of our country, he said, none has apparently stirred the interest of the people more than exploration of outer space.

"We have committed ourselves to an enormously costly space program," he said, "including a $20 billion project for landing an American on the moon before 1970, and—what is more important—ahead of the Russians."

"Since the experts agree that the moon has no foreseeable value as a military base, we are doing this because we believe it is essential to our prestige," he continued.

The senator asked that if, by 1970, Russia has reached the moon and America has not, but instead has succeeded in renovation of its cities, transportation, and in the virtual elimination of slums and crime, which nation would be better thought of?

"Success or failure of the United States in solving the problem of full employment in an expanding economy, he said, will more likely have a lasting effect on history. America would be confronted with such domestic crises, he said, even if communism didn't exist."

Fulbright said that if the race problem of the nation is ever solved, it would be through slow conversion of the human race.

He said, on the federal budget, that surely there is an imbalance in a budget that allows 62 percent of the taxpayers money to defense and space, six per cent to the agricultural economy, six per cent to benefits for war veterans, 10 per cent to interest on a national debt consisting largely of the costs of old wars, and leaving only 16 per cent for everything else.

He termed such an allocation "a recipe for disaster."

Top Students Are Named by Saratoga

Judy Cannon

Betty Fontaine

Saratoga High School today announced its honor graduates.

Judy Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Cannon, is valedictorian of the 1962-63 Senior Class. She has served in various school activities, as member of 4-H Club, captain of the basketball team, vice president of the Library Club, and a member of the Glee Club. She has participated in Junior and Senior Class plays, and has served as class officer for three years. Judy was also an honor graduate of the eighth grade.

Betty Fontaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fontaine, is salutatorian of the 1962-63 Senior Class. Betty has served in various school activities, such as: Glee Club, basketball, 4-H Club, Library Club, Junior and Senior Class plays and class officer. She is active in church and community activities.

The Baccalaureate Exercises, May 12, and the Commencement Exercises, May 17, will be held in the Saratoga Gym at a p.m.

Politics Full of Heartache, Says Hays

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Brooks Hays, former Arkansas congressman and now a special assistant to President Kennedy, told 200 students at Hendrix College Wednesday night not to enter politics unless they are prepared to meet heartache.

"They are inevitable," he said. "And never equate success with the ability to get more votes than the other fellow."

Sen. Theodore Green, D-R.I., Hays said, ran intermittently for 20 years before winning office, but he served 24 years in the Senate and was a powerful influence even before his first victory.

The problem of grass roots organization definitely needs study, Hays said.

"Doorbell ringing is good foundation work for a political career," he said. "Don't despise the day of the little things."

"Organization of your support is essential, but put your reliance in the ability to influence sentiment rather than clever schemes."

Hays said the financial problems generally are serious.

"However, one thing is in favor of those who want to be independent is wider recognition of the citizens' responsibility to help his candidate."

He said Presidential Commission headed by Chancellor Alexander Heard of Vanderbilt University had submitted some excellent recommendations, including the suggestion that contributors to political candidates be given tax deduction credit for reasonable amounts.

"One should contribute to the campaigns just as he gives to the Community Chest," Hays said.

He said another favorable development for political candidates in recent years is wider concern of the citizenship to protect the integrity of the ballot.

"Use of the voting machine would help prevent irregularities where attempts are made to tamper with results," he said.

Churchill to End 60 Years in Commons

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons is losing its greatest son.

After 60 years of triumph and trial in the mother of Parliaments Sir Winston Churchill announced Wednesday he is quitting politics because of his health.

Drive-in for City Hall to Be Installed

City officials and the Hope Water and Light Commission are starting an extensive repair program at the City Hall.

Included in the program will be a driveway on the northwest corner of the City Hall property to enable utility customers and other persons visiting the City Hall to drive up near the west entrance which they feel will be a great convenience to the public.

Plans are to extend an awning over a part of the walkway leading into the west entrance so that customers will be able to get into the building during bad weather without the long walk now necessary when they park out in the street. The driveway will also be a great help to the Electric and Water Departments servicemen who work out of that office.

Included in the plans is a fire escape to be mounted on the northwest corner of the building to provide an escape from the city auditorium. Presently, the auditorium provides only a front entrance, and a fire with the auditorium full of people could be a major catastrophe. The installation of a fire escape is something that has been discussed for many years, and under rigid fire safety enforcement, the auditorium would have been condemned. Fire Chief Ray Yocom, in commenting upon the hazard, said that state law now prohibits the building of public assembly places without adequate fire escapes.

A central heating and cooling system is also planned for the entire building, and some remodeling of the utility offices to provide additional working space and more convenience to the utility customers.

The possibility of moving the Police Department into the City Hall has been considered. After the present changes are completed get some needed repair work, and then from their present location. The building roof will also be the police car work more effect.

Mayor Douglas says he has had a number of calls about the removing of trees on the northwest corner of the City Hall lawn, and he has tried to explain that nothing will be moved that isn't absolutely necessary. Actually, there are three trees on that corner of the property; and the two largest will remain. The smallest of the trees will be in the west entrance and will have to be removed, but the Mayor says additional plantings can make the corner even more attractive than it is today and that the driveway will be of great convenience to the public.

Plans for the building work was discussed by the Water and Light Commission and the city officials last year, and the Water and Light Commission made provision in the 1963 budget to take care of the building repairs from water and light funds. The building repairs, including the central heating and cooling system, are estimated to cost a total of $7,900.00.

The Water and Light Department has recently changed the lighting throughout the hallways by installing some attractive fluorescent fixtures. The new modifications will give the interior of the building something of a more modern atmosphere.

Boyle Declares It's Just Amazing: How Quickly the Young Folks Become Old

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It's amazing how age does tell on younger people.

They get older so fast.

My daughter, Tracy Ann, who will be 10 next month, seems to me all at once to have taken great strides toward adulthood. Although there were earlier moments when I yearned for it, now that it is happening I am suddenly unprepared.

How do you tell when a modern child is growing up? Well, in many ways. Such as:

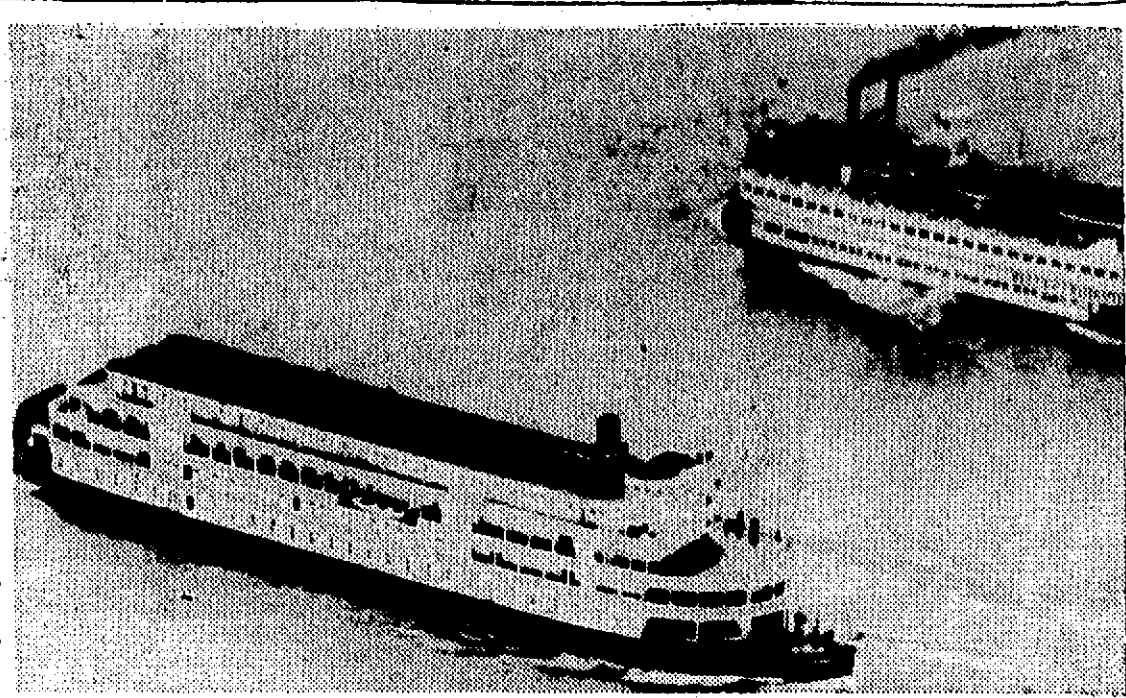

She no longer thinks it is the height of sophistication to use the word "stupid."

It isn't absolutely necessary always to shout everything at the top of one's voice. Enthusiasm is more muted.

She would rather cook cornbread than skip rope.

Her quarrels with her mother are no less intense, but they are fewer—and they have more fun together.

Japs Deny Torpedo Sank Chinese Ship

By CONRAD FINK

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese government and shipping officials expressed doubt today of claims by Chinese sailors that their freighter, the pride of Communist China's merchant fleet, was torpedoed and sunk by an unidentified submarine in the East China Sea.

The Japanese tended to blame the sinking on a submerged reef off South Korea or floating mines which Red China laid during the Korean War.

A Navy spokesman said no Japanese or American submarines were in the area when the freighter met disaster.

The ship was the 11,402-ton Yue Jin Ho, making an inaugural trade voyage to Japan with 14,000 tons of corn and other products. Relying a report from Japanese rescuers, Japanese maritime officials said the Chinese crewmen claimed their ship was followed by a sub for four hours Wednesday and was hit by three torpedoes.

Abortion Defendant Appears

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Richard Rutledge and Mrs. Helen Kelso, a nurse, appeared in Garland Circuit Court to face charges of abortion today, and Judge P. E. Dobbs set their trials for next week.

Rutledge is to be tried Monday and Mrs. Kelso Tuesday.

Dobbs reinstated Rutledge's $22,500 bond which the judge had ordered forfeited Wednesday when Rutledge did not appear for trial.

He told the doctor's attorneys that if he appeared within a reasonable time the bond would be reinstated.

Rutledge's attorneys said the doctor was under treatment for cancer in a Chicago hospital.

He and Mrs. Kelso were arrested last November after police raided an apartment house and confiscated operating room equipment.

1,300 Arkansans Missile-Employed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Martin Co. said Wednesday it has reached peak employment of 1,300 persons at the Titan II missile sites in central Arkansas.

The company said work on the project, which is scheduled for completion late this year, is producing a monthly payroll estimated at $1,880,000.

The complex technical equipment necessary to launch the missiles is being installed in the underground silos which hold the missiles, the company said.

Col. Julian Bleyer, commander of the site activation task force, said a total of 8,000 persons have been employed on the Titan project since it began in January 1961.

May Try for Life Sentence

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe sentenced Frederick L. Rush, 26, to life in prison today for the murder of his stepfather, Paul Rush, last May 13.

Rush was convicted of first degree murder Monday. The jury set the penalty.

His attorneys have indicated they will appeal the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court. They have 10 days in which to do so.

The trial of Raymond Wood, second of three persons charged with the slaying, was postponed today from May 6 to May 20 to allow Wood to confer with his new attorneys. Carolyn Brown is to be tried May 13.

Textbooks to Be Changed for 1963-64

There will be a few changes in textbooks at the high school for the school year 1963-1964. These changes are necessitated by new developments and different emphasis on important concepts in the different fields of learning.

These new developments are more numerous and more noticeable in mathematics and science than other areas. In order that the schools might keep teaching materials up-to-date they will make changes in the following texts:

Ninth grade, general science and algebra I; 11th grade, chemistry, algebra II and shorthand I; and the 12th grade, business math will be changed to an advanced general math course to better suit the needs of the students, both as a strong terminal course and also to strengthen the math background for some students who will seek further training beyond high school.

1st Malaria Case Since Year 1959

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. William L. Bunche Jr., director of the Division of Communicable Disease Control of the state Health Department, said Wednesday the first case of malaria since 1959 has been recorded in Arkansas.

Bunche said the disease was found in a 56-year-old Craighead County man who had recently visited Nigeria and Libya. The case reported in 1959 was also found in a man who had been outside the United States, Bunche said.

Next Pacific Leg Hop May Be Friday

HONOLULU (AP)—Aviatix Betty Miller, rested and smiling, wasn't sure today when she will tackle the next leg of her solo flight from California to Australia, but indicated she hopes to leave Friday.

Her departure time depends, she said, on the weather and minor repairs to her plane's radio. She experienced difficulty cranking the antenna on her California to Hawaii flight Tuesday, and could not send or receive long-distance messages for much of the trip.

The Santa Monica housewife is attempting to become the first woman to fly solo 7,100 miles across the Pacific to Australia. She is delivering a twin-engine Piper Apache to a buyer in Brisbane.

Mrs. Miller, 37, already has achieved one first on the flight. She is the only woman ever to fly from California to Hawaii alone. The late Amelia Earhart did it the other way in 1933.

From Honolulu, Mrs. Miller will make a 14-hour trip to Canton Island and a 10-hour hop to Fiji before reaching Brisbane. The route approximates—in reverse—the flight Miss Earhart was flying when she disappeared in 1937 with navigator Fred Noonan.

54 Paroled by Arkansas State Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock man convicted of embezzlement and a Bee Branch man sentenced on a murder charge were among 54 convicts issued paroles Wednesday by the state Pardon and Parole Board.

Max W. Nunn, 52, of Little Rock, was sentenced to six years on May 1, 1961. He was an investment executive. Leslie Wright, 28, of Bee Branch, was given life imprisonment Dec. 18, 1953, after being convicted of the murder of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junious Wright.

His term was commuted last December by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to 21 years.

The board also recommended eight commutations. Most of the parolees will be released Saturday.

Americans Conquer Mt. Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two members of the American expedition reached the summit of Mt. Everest Wednesday, a radio message from the base camp said today.

The two Americans, who were not immediately identified, followed the British in 1953 and the Swiss in 1956 in the conquest of the 29,028-foot summit of the world's highest mountain.

They are all part of the relentless and reckless war waged against Fidel Castro by Cuban exiles and members of a group called U.S. Freedom Fighters.

One of the 100-pound bombs, four feet long and 10 inches in diameter, was dropped by a freedom fighters' twin-engine plane on an oil refinery in a Havana

U.S. Probe of Cuba Arsenal Is Rumored

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. government agents may be investigating a report of Cuban refugee arsenals in Miami. But, if so, they are doing it in secrecy and silence.

Official spokesmen in Washington refuse to say whether they are investigating or, in fact, have the duty to investigate the report.

John Raymond, in a story copyrighted by the Boston Traveler, wrote Wednesday that he had spent four days with Cuban Freedom Fighters in Miami last month and had seen Cuban exiles loading grenades in an apartment and had noticed a 100-pound bomb in a backyard shed. The Traveler said Raymond, in future articles, would describe Cuban arsenals in Miami.

The stories, which are being distributed nationally by The Associated Press, provoked a round of "no comments" in Washington.

The FBI said, "We can't have any comment on that at all."

The Customs Bureau said it would have no jurisdiction in the matter unless some attempt was made to export arms.

The State Department said, "We're not in the law enforcement business. That's the job of the Justice Department."

The Justice Department said it would have nothing to say about the specific case except: "We investigate, and have investigated, violations of the Neutrality Act."

The Neutrality Act forbids anyone from launching an invasion from American soil against countries that are not at war with the United States.

When asked if the Justice Department, in general, would investigate caches of arms in Miami, a spokesman replied: "We can't answer any hypothetical questions."

EDITORS NOTE—Reporter

John Raymond of the Boston Traveler visited Cuban exiles as they made preparations for last week's abortive bombing of a Cuban refinery near Havana. In this story made available and condensed by The Associated Press, Raymond tells of the buildup and of making a flight and motor launch trip to deliver munitions. The final part of the series will deal with running guns into Cuba.

Sanford's Pitching Up to Contract

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Sanford slumped down some impressive statistics when he sat down to talk contract with the San Francisco Giants this spring, such as a 24-7 won-lost record, including 16 in a row, a World Series shutout and a strong playoff game effort.

But said the management you didn't finish what you started.

Sanford started 20 games during his winning streak and completed only six, and had just 13 complete games in 38 starts for the season.

Jack came to terms after a brief holdout, and set out this season to eliminate that talking point. Wednesday night he threw his third complete game of the young season, a 5-1 seven-hitter over the Pittsburgh Pirates, for his fourth victory. It snapped a four-game Pirates winning streak and shoved the Giants into third place in the National League, only two games out of first.

The four-game winning streak of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals was also snapped. Ernie Banks did most of the damage in a 13-8 Cubs victory.

Banks crashed two three-run homers and drove in another run with a single.

In the only other National League game, Jerry Lynch slammed the 13th pinch-hit homer of his career for a 4-3 Cincinnati victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Houston at New York and Los Angeles at Philadelphia games were rained out. The Colts and Mets played three innings before the rains came with the Colts on top 1-0.

In the American League, Kansas City held first place with an 11-3 rout of Cleveland, Los Angeles spilled New York 5-3, Washington downed Detroit 4-1, Boston smothered Minnesota 14-5, and Chicago beat Baltimore twice, 7-0 and 6-4.

Three other Cubs joined Banks in the homer column, Dick Bertell, Ken Hubbs and Nelson Mathews. Banks' first blast gave the Cubs a 3-0 lead, and his second put them back in front 9-8.

Lynch's pinch homer came in the seventh inning while batting for Jim O'Toole, who got the victory.

Fry Picks Hogs, Texas for 1963

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Head football Coach Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist University said Tuesday night that Arkansas and Texas were his picks in the Southwest Conference race this year, with Rice carrying a dark horse rating.

Fry, former assistant coach to Frank Broyles at the University of Arkansas, spoke at a meeting of the Fort Smith Quarterback Club.

He called Arkansas' recruiting program this year the university's "most successful ever," noting

Travelers Tossed Out of the Lead

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Arkansas Travelers fell from first place in the International baseball League southern division Wednesday as Joe Shirley pitched a four-hitter, leading Indianapolis to a 3-2 victory.

The victory was Shipley's third straight.

In the only other league game Wednesday Atlanta rolled over Columbus 4-0. All other games were postponed because of cold.

The Travelers meet Indianapolis again tonight.

The Arkansas picked up a run in the second when Jim Woods slammed a home run off Shipley and got an unearned run in the eighth on a walk, a passed ball and a single by Jim Upham.

But the Indians matched Woods' run in the home half of the second inning, then scored twice on the third to tie it.

The second inning runs came on an error by second baseman Norm Gigon, a double by Ken Berry and a squeeze bunt by Shipley. The insurance runs came on singles by Tom McCraw and Ramon Conde, a sacrifice fly by Jim Koranda, a hit batsman and a single by Berry.

Riverboat Smith started for the Travelers and took the loss on a five-inning, six-hit job. Bob Locke finished the game.

Belinsky Is Winner Over Yanks 5-3

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bo Belinsky, the Los Angeles left-hander finished what he started for the first time this season Wednesday night, limiting the New York Yankees to four hits while George Thomas hit a grand slam homer that gave the Angels a 5-3 victory over the world champions.

Belinsky pitched probably his finest game since his no-hitter against Baltimore last May 5.

He allowed the Yankees' first hit when Roger Maris singled with one out in the fifth and ran into serious trouble only in the ninth when the Yankees scored their third run on a walk and singles by Harry Bright and Tony Kubek. Then he avoided a photo-finish by getting Jack Reed to ground out for the final out.

Orlando Pena's four-hit pitching and a 15-hit Kansas City attack subdued Cleveland 11-3 and kept the A's in first place.

Tom Cheney struck out 12 and allowed only seven hits as Washington downed Detroit 4-1 while Ray Herbert started Chicago off to a doubleheader sweep over Baltimore with a 7-0 four-hit first game job. The White Sox took the nightcap 6-4. Boston walloped Minnesota 14-5 to round out the schedule.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs outslugged first place St. Louis 13-8. San Francisco defeated Pittsburgh 5-1 and Cincinnati edged Milwaukee 4-3. The other games were rained out.

George Thomas took care of Yankee starter Ralph Terry, now 3-2, in the first inning when he tagged his grand slam following singles by Billy Moran, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner.

The Indians' runs came on homers by John Romano in the eighth and Joe Adcock in the ninth. Wayne Causey led the Kansas City attack with three hits, one a homer off loser Gary Bell.

The Tigers got the first earned run off Cheney this season on Gus Triandos' run-producing double in the sixth. Cheney's batterymate, Don Leppert, provided the key hits for the Senators with a homer in the second and a double that snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh.

Herbert retired 15 Orioles in order. The White Sox knocked Robin Roberts out in a two-run sixth in the nightcap, moving ahead 4-2 on Floyd Robinson's homer and a squeeze bunt by Sherm Lollar.

Chuck Schilling hit a two-run homer as the second-place Red Sox lashed 16 hits against Twins' starter Jack Kralick and five relievers. Eddie Bressoud also homered for Boston. Earl Wilson got credit for the victory.

They Prove Why They Were Traded

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Traded players have proved one thing during the first month of the major league baseball season—why they were traded.

Except for a handful, such as Luis Aparicio and Al Smith of Baltimore, Larry Jackson of the Chicago Cubs, Bob Miller of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Don Nottebart of Houston, Don Leppert of Washington, and Dick Groat and George Altman of St. Louis, players who were swapped last winter have not distinguished themselves.

Pete Runnels, for example, is batting .210 with Houston. He led the American League last year, hitting .326 with Boston. Bill Skowron, the slugger traded by the Yankees to the Dodgers, is hitting .238 with only one home run.

Roman Mejias, who went to the Red Sox in the Runnels trade, is batting a microscopic .136. Dick Stuart, the Pittsburgh slugger swapped to Boston, is at .254. Joe Adcock, dealt by Milwaukee to Cleveland, is hitting .222. Duke Snider, ex-Dodger with the New York Mets, is at .190.

Ron Hansen, the new White Sox shortstop who figured prominently in the multiple player swap between Baltimore and Chicago, is at .228 after a big night Wednesday. Dave Nicholson and rookie Pete Ward, who accompanied Hansen in the deal, are at .207 and .230, respectively.

Aparicio and Smith, the key new Orioles in that major trade, are doing very well indeed. Aparicio is batting .307 and leads the American League with six stolen bases. Smith is doing even better at .338. Groat, obtained from Pittsburgh, and Altman, obtained from the Cubs, have had a lot to do with the Cards' fine showing. Altman is hitting .368. Groat is at .353 and doing his usual job at shortstop.

Leppert, an ex-Pirate, is the leading Washington hitter with a .340 average, four homers and 11 runs batted in.

Except for Jackson, Nottebart and Miller, the traded pitchers seem to be faring just as poorly as the majority of traded hitters. Jackson is 3-2 with a 2.00 earned run average with the Cubs, and Miller is 2-1 with an under 2.00 ERA with the Dodgers. Nottebart is 3-0 with the Angels. Tracy Stallard 0-3 with the Mets, Don Cardwell 1-2 at Pittsburgh, and Jack Fisher 1-2 with San Francisco.

Of the 20 pitchers traded during the winter, only Jackson, Miller and Nottebart have won more than one game.

No Robbery Runs Best in Noisy Crowd

By KELSO STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—If the trainer of Greentree Stable's Kentucky Derby hopeful No Robbery had just one more wish, he'd ask for the noisiest crowd in derby history and a stiff crosswind at the head of the stretch.

John Gaver, who has won five straight including the Wood Memorial, with No Robbery, is still worried his wandering colt may try in Saturday's derby to pull his old trick of running where he pleases.

"I'd just hope for a screaming crowd to scare him to the rail when they hit the stretch," Gaver quipped, "and a little crosswind wouldn't hurt."

"No Robbery, one of two unbeaten colts in the derby — the other is Candy Spots, the likely favorite—went wide in the Wood for no apparent reason, causing Gaver and jockey Johnny Rotz more than their share of worrying."

The little son of Swaps-Bimette will go postward in the derby with a new bit to hold his tongue in place and will race with blinkers for the first time.

"I don't know what causes him to wander," Gaver said. "You never know, it just might be something about Aqueduct (site of the Wood). That's the only place he's ever done it."

Rotz worked No Robbery earlier in the week with the new bit and blinkers and said the colt handled much better.

Gaver's concern is heightened by the fact that No Robbery has more early speed than any colt in the race and could cause trouble if he ran out when anyone tried to pass him.

He said he plans to let No Robbery "run it any way he wants to. We're just going to let him go."

Almost without exception, trainers said they plan to let their colts run the race as they see fit. Woody Stephens, of Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend, is the exception.

"I'm not telling anybody what I've got up my sleeve for the Derby," Stephens said. "I won't even tell my wife."

Jimmy Conway, of Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay, said "I don't care how Chateaugay runs. If nobody wants to go to the front end, and he wants to, then I'd just as soon he would."

Mesh Tenney, of Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots, said he'll let his colt do as he pleases.

Vic Fulton, of B. J. Ridder's Royal Tower, said: "My colt will be the last out of the gate and will come from way out of it like he likes to."

60,000 Stake in Las Vegas Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The search for desert gold—actually $60,000 in silver money—begins today when 27 selected golfers set forth in the first round of the Tournament of Champions.

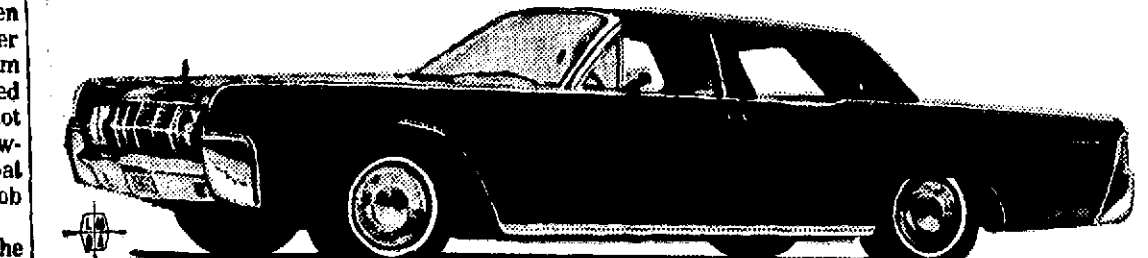

This is the 11th annual tournament and the roll is studded with top names, all of whom qualified for the winner's purse of $13,000 by winning one or more major PGA tournaments in the past 12 months.

Never shy at placing a betting price of any sporting attraction, the Las Vegas chance takers agree on one point. Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are the favorites—at odds of 4-1.

Construction Man Killed by Truck

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP) — A water truck backed over Jackson Powell, 36, of Ozark, on a construction job Tuesday, killing him.

Sheriff Tommy Wilbanks said the brakes of the truck, driven by Lee Helms, failed. Both men were employed by the Evans Construction Co., Lillbanks said. They were working on Interstate 40 one mile north of Van Buren.

suburb a week ago today. It failed to explode.

The plane also dropped five home-made napalm fire bombs on the refinery. But these, too, failed to explode.

But Alexander I. Rorke Jr., head of the Freedom Fighters and one of the men on last week's abortive raid, is undismayed.

"We've got more bombs and we plan more attacks," he told me.

Rorke also disclosed that anti-Castro groups now have six jet fighter planes based in Guatemala at a secret air strip.

Guatemala's new military strongman, Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, has strong anti-Communist feelings and is openly sympathetic to rebels trying to oust the Red dictator.

There are 100,000 Cuban refugees in Miami, which normally has a population of one million. These have split into nearly 65 small groups, all dedicated to overthrowing the Castro regime.

Some 15 of these appear to have strong financial backing, are highly organized and are now supplying arms to Cuban guerrillas or conducting hit-run raids.

The U.S. Freedom Fighters—known as "Rorke's Raiders"—are the only group of Americans.

To help curb commando raids on Cuba, the U.S. has beefed up its ship and plane patrols in the Bahamas and the Florida Straits. These now include 16 patrol boats, 4 larger ships, 22 small craft and 18 planes.

"Are we supposed to just sit here and do nothing?" said a young Cuban whose group often works with the Freedom Fighters. As he talked, he was busily filling hand grenades with black powder.

Rorke, Jan Dorfman, an ex-Bostonian, and I left to meet Sid Hersman and take off for the Bahamas. Rorke said he wanted to check some guns hidden on one of the small, deserted keys about 50 miles southeast of Nassau in the vicinity of Exuma Sound.

"I think we'd better move the stuff before someone discovers it," Rorke said. "Too many British patrol boats nosing around here lately."

Our first stop was Bimini, a half-hour's flying time from West Palm Beach. Then we landed on a postage stamp air strip on tiny Norman's Cay, where Nassau police arrested 17 Cuban raiders on Rorke's boat, Violynn III.

Our pilot landed the twin-engine Beechcraft on another midjet strip, and we took a motor launch—left there for the purpose—to a nearby key.

Wrapped in canvas and buried just under the sandy surface were two more 100-pound bombs. "We'll leave those," he (Rorke) said.

There was ammunition in metal U.S. Army containers, grease guns (small inexpensive machine guns) and bars (automatic rifles). These were piled in the boat and transferred by plane and boat to another key.

"They'll be picked up within a week for delivery to Cuba," Rorke said.

The plane once again roared down the homemade runway of a key so small only a few aeronautical charts show it.

of Commons until Parliament is dissolved before the election.

Churchill wrote his Conservative supporters in his electoral district of Woodford that his accident last year when he fell and broke his left thigh, "greatly decreased my mobility, and it has become difficult for me to attend the House of Commons as I would wish."

"I need not tell you with what sadness I feel constrained to take this step," he said.

Churchill's 60-year career in Commons was unmatched for brilliance and achievement.

From a brash, outspoken strippling legislator of 26, he rose to immortality in his own lifetime. He made a shaky start, failing in his first race for Commons in 1899. He made it the next year. Except for two years in the political wilderness, when he was voted out of office in the 1920s, he has been a member of Commons ever since. Priding himself on being a "child of the House of Commons," he declined a peerage to remain there.

His career included nearly every cabinet office except foreign secretary. The highest prize came when he was 65, on May 10, 1949. His unheeded prophecies of peril had proved correct and Britain faced defeat from the Nazis. He took over the reins of government from Neville Chamberlain and three days later, in his first speech as prime minister, offered his people "nothing but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Would Pay State Police Out of Fines

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council holds its first post-session meeting May 17, and it may receive a plan for increasing State Police revenues without upping taxes.

Under a plan advanced by Rep. Raymond L. Hays of Cleveland Ray and 1 aays of arleveland County Wednesday, one-fourth of fines and forfeitures resulting from arrests by state troopers would go to the department, giving it an additional $300,000 a year.

Funds from fines and forfeitures now go to the county or city jurisdiction in which the arrest is made.

Additional funds for the State Police have been sought since activities of the department were curtailed early this year in an economy move.

Two attempts to get additional funds were made during the 1963 legislative session, before the curtailment. Both failed. Under a plan Gov. Orval E. Faubus wanted to increase the driver license fee from $2 to $3, and a move to shift Highway Department funds to State Police was unsuccessful.

Mays said he had been discouraged from introducing a bill on the fines and forfeitures during the legislative session, because the administration's legislative and fiscal experts said it would disrupt county and community finances.

Faubus has been cool to any plan using fines as a source of revenue for police, saying the public may suspect arrests were made for revenue-producing purposes, rather than law enforcement.

Kroger Profit Plan Helps Employees

Kroger employees received 97 cents in profit sharing credits for each $1.00 they saved under the company's Employees' Savings and Profit Sharing plan during 1962, it was announced today by H. L. Lindsay, vice president of the Little Rock Kroger Division. Kroger contributed $3,460,913 to the fund from company profits for 1962, Mr. Lindsay said.

A total of approximately $244,780 is shared by the 597 Kroger employees in the Little Rock division area who are members. The plan, which is now 11½ years old, is part of the overall Kroger Employees' Profit Sharing and Retirement Income program.

Accounts of employee-members throughout the company had grown to a total of $65,873,396 at the end of the year, Mr. Lindsay reported. Employee saving and earnings on those savings totaled $3,616,758. This fund is invested in U.S. Government bonds and FHA insured mortgages. Employees' share of company profits totaled $32,036,639 at the year end. The company's contribution is invested in stocks, bonds, and other property, including five Kroger supermarkets and one SuperRx drug store.

Profit sharing plan members collectively are the largest Kroger shareholder today with a total of more than 507,800 shares at the beginning of 1963. This represents an average of 20 shares per member.

The Kroger Profit Sharing and Retirement Income Program is designed to provide two kinds of financial security for retirement. Employees are encouraged to save and are given the opportunity to share in the company profits they help earn, thus building a sizable estate for themselves and their families. This is in addition to the regular monthly income they will receive from the company when they retire. The company pays the entire cost of the retirement payments, Mr. Lindsay said.

'Marchers' on 2nd Leg of Journey

By JACK STILLMAN

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A group of "Freedom Marchers" sets out today on the second leg of a walk through the Deep South as a protest to segregation. The marchers drew jeers and insults their first day out.

They are retracing the steps of Baltimore postman William Moore, who was shot to death near Attalla, Ala., April 24. The group faces probable arrest in Alabama.

Eight Negroes who planned a similar demonstration from Attalla were arrested Wednesday and charged with breach of the peace. They are being held in jail at Gadsden, Ala.

The Freedom Marchers who started their walk from Chattanooga, Tenn., spent the night huddled in sleeping bags and blankets on the floor and pews of a little white frame church at Hooker, a northwest Georgia community.

Hooker, population 400, is about two miles from U.S. 11 along which the demonstrators are walking. The Mount Calvary Baptist Church is in the midst of a Negro community.

But white persons live nearby, and some of them dropped in to speak to the five white men and the five Negro men. Most of them said they came because they were curious.

The marchers met with jeers along the route from Chattanooga to the Tennessee line, about nine miles. Two Tennessee troopers in a patrol car accompanied them to the Georgia line. There were no

Lottery for Nation Now Is Urged

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—To Rep. Paul A. Fino, there's only one way to cut taxes, reduce the national debt, and still have enough money for schools, housing, disabled veterans, and health care: Adopt a national lottery.

But thus far the New York Republican's one-man fight—he calls himself the No. 1 advocate of a national lottery — has been stymied by what he calls hypocrisy and pussyfooting by Congress.

Fino, however, is a determined man and this week's signing of a state lottery bill by Gov. John N. King of New Hampshire has reinforced that determination.

"It breaks the ice in this country," Fino said in an interview. "There's no question that the New Hampshire action will have a tremendous impact on members of Congress. It will provide impetus for Congress to take a second look at the national lottery bill."

He introduced his first national lottery bill in 1953, the year he came to Congress. He has introduced similar bills every two years since.

"It's only a question of time before the government does something about it," Fino said. "The New Hampshire action is the catalyst that will get this thing going."

Fino contends a lottery would be the easy and painless way to raise $10 billion in additional revenue yearly because it would feed on the natural gambling urge of the American people.

International Flag Play Killed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The flags of 98 nations probably will not fly this year at Kansas City's Liberty Memorial.

Lowell L. Johnson, president of the Liberty Memorial Association, told the City Park Board Wednesday the board of governors probably will bow to objections that the display is un-American.

When the World War I monument was rededicated to world peace on Nov. 11, 1961, representatives of 57 nations attended the flag-raising ceremony.

Vandals tore down some flags, particularly those of Communist nations. The memorial was picketed.

Mental Ills Expand as Tv Film Topic

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—During the current television season, there has been one hour-long dramatic program, "11th Hour," focusing on the problems of mental illness and the mentally ill, but all of the medical shows have frequently moved into that area.

Next season, there will be a second entertainment program about psychiatry, "Breaking Point," and if that is popular with audiences, there will undoubtedly be others by 1965. Meanwhile, there is real concern about this "entertainment" treatment of the delicate subject, particularly among psychiatrists and psychologists.

Last month broadcasting representatives met with mental health professionals for two days at West Point, N.Y. to try to find a way to eliminate some trouble spots. Dr. William Menninger, keynote speaker at the sessions, perhaps summed up best psychiatry's fears about the effect of these shows.

"The public must be led to see mental illness in its true light, as an illness," he said in part. "And summed up best psychiatry's fears about the effect of these shows."

"The public must be led to see mental illness in its true light, as an illness," he said in part. "And the mentally ill as sick people in need of help—Not as some kind of strange, weird persons."

"To portray the mentally sick person as characteristically violent or dangerous is wrong; and to portray the psychiatrist as a person who can cure mental illness in some quick, magic way is also wrong."

On the other hand, there is the problem of the people who must provide dramatic entertainment. Drama even drama about psychiatry, must have action, conflict, a beginning—and an upbeat ending. After all, it is commercial television.

Perhaps the oil-and-water qualities of the two are what led another speaker, William Dozier of Screen Gems, to suggest that the answer lies in producing "less, not more, television programs on the subject of mental health."

He criticized "splashing the

May Crucial Month for U.S. Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Just how firm a foundation underlies the current business pickup should be much clearer before May is over. Two of the biggest uncertainties today are labor relations in the steel industry and the chances for tax cuts this year. Both influence much of the recent gains in manufacturers' new orders and industrial production. Both could be out of the guessing stage at least and into the open before the month's end, even if neither is resolved till late in the summer.

The threat of a strike is boosting steel orders, and, to that extent, putting the industrial picture out of focus. The issues involved between the United Steelworkers Union and management—once they take form—could influence much of the labor-management pattern in many other industries for the rest of the year. Some fear 1963 will see a basic showdown on such issues as job security and automation.

The promise of tax cuts is influencing much consumer and business planning. But until the tax pattern takes clearer shape before congressional committee, it is still guesswork, especially as to the timing of any cuts.

And to a degree the two problems are interacting on each other.

The rush of steel ordering which gives industrial production a healthy glow just now has boosted the prospects of higher corporate profits and individual incomes. To that extent it has eased the talk of a possible recession which earlier lay behind much of the push for tax cutting.

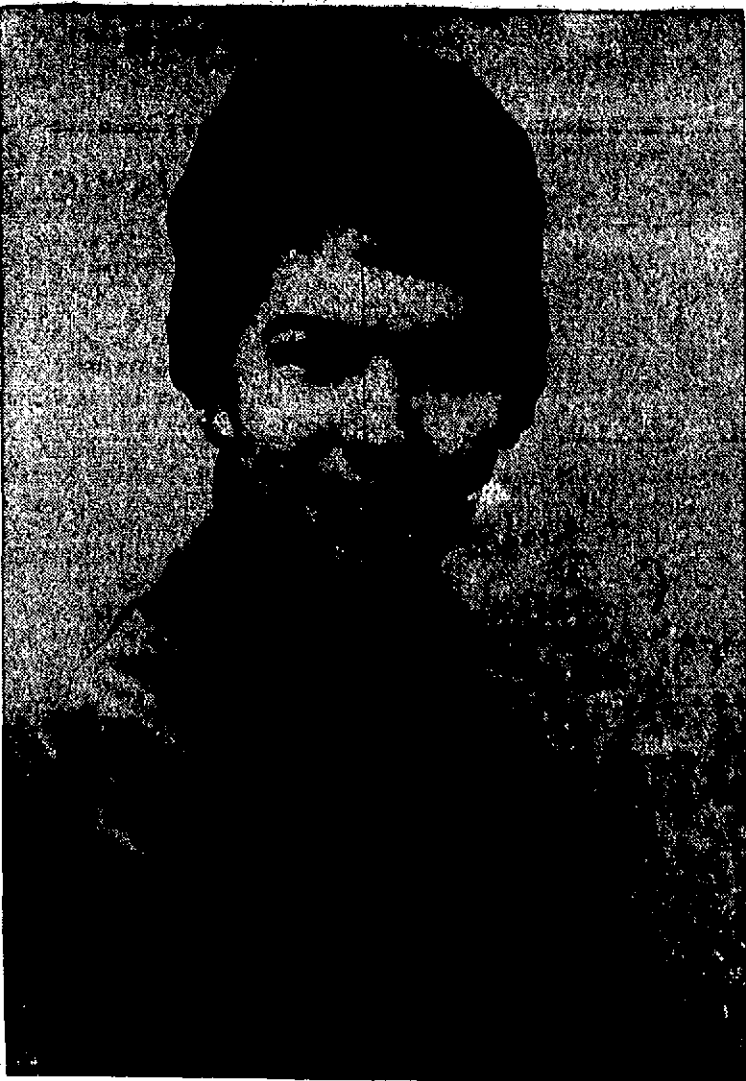

At the same time the better profit and income outlook has given the United States Treasury a more optimistic estimate of tax collections, and therefore pared its idea of the size of the next fiscal year's federal deficit if tax rates are cut. Thus the steel labor question is affecting the debates in Congress on taxes.

But the promised revision of corporate tax rates, along with already realized relaxation in depreciation allowance rules for tax purposes, improves the profit outlook for business. This in turn whets the appetite of labor for a bigger share of the larger returns. And in the case of steel the recent selective price rises gives labor an added talking point.

Many other industries will be watching any reopening of labor contracts with the Steelworkers and especially what form any new demands by the union may take. Steel contracts have set patterns in the past.

And steel price rises have been followed by some increases in other lines. Steel isn't the only indus-

Miss Pat Jezek to Wed

Mrs. J. B. Bailey of Hope and Marvin Jezek of Houston announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pat, to Aubrey Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hatfield of Hope.

Miss Jezek is a graduate of Hope High School and Four States Beauty College of Texarkana and is employed with Diane's.

Mr. Hatfield is also a graduate of Hope High School and is employed with Childs Food Store.

The wedding will be May 25 at the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Clyde Johnson will officiate. A reception will follow at the Barlow Hotel.

No cards will be sent.

Hoffa Aims to Expand Overseas

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa says he doesn't want to confine himself to the United States in his efforts to increase the effectiveness of the Teamsters' Union.

He wants European unions to agree not to handle shipments that might affect a teamsters strike in return for a similar pledge by the teamsters, he told the House Merchant Marine Committee Wednesday.

Hoffa made the comment in response to a question and did not elaborate on it. A Teamsters official said later no such agreements are being actively pursued at the moment.

It was a new role for Hoffa, who is usually defending himself or his union against some charge when he comes before a congressional committee. This time the committee just wanted to get his views on labor legislation. And it did.

On strikes—"Strikes aren't the worst thing in the world. They let off steam and bring about understanding. When management brings in scabs and breaks a strike you don't hear anyone calling for legislation. But as soon as a strike is successful everybody gets in the act."

On compulsory arbitration: "You can't make people do something they don't want to do. You can't control the spirit of people by writing laws."

On cooling-off periods before a strike can be called: "They're of no value. We just use them to stimulate the men so they'll take the same action later. And we make the increases retroactive, anyway."

try that feels price rigidity has pinched its profits.

And if prices rise, and if taxes are cut, profits will go higher. And so perhaps will labor's wage and fringe benefit demands.

This month should see some idea of what the Steelworkers will want and their chance of getting it without a strike—and of the likelihood of such demands spreading to other industries.

It also could bring a clearer picture of what Congress will do about taxes.

And then business should know how much of today's business pickup is for real and how much is for hedging or other guesswork.

Brooks Hays Explains His 1954 Stand

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Brooks Hays told about 200 Hendrix College students Tuesday night he had heard the "roar" of Negro aspirations in 1954 and considered most of them legitimate.

Hays said he had a conviction that the 1954 desegregation decision was the law of the land, and so tried to be a moderating influence.

He said he has a principle that "I should never do anything that would be an affront to human dignity."

The title of Hays' talk was "Return of A Troubled Moderate." He is a former Arkansas congressman, now a special assistant to President Kennedy.

Hays, who acted as a globe-trotter in the integration struggles of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and President Eisenhower in 1957, said he has played the role of moderate in other controversies.

He gave as an example the rural South's fight for more equitable freight rates. He said the rural South must also be fair to the North, in such matters as reapportionment.

After the talk, Hays told a newsman he had no current plans to become a candidate for governor of Arkansas in 1964. "It would be too early to decide on any plans for 1964," he said.

His Tuesday night talk was the first of four lectures he is to give on the campus.

first secretary was halted in his car Tuesday night. Guards forced him to stand with his hands raised in the glare of his car's headlights until he identified himself.

Diplomatic sources said at least 15 persons were killed Friday and Saturday, and there were rumors many more died.

Duvalier's crackdown appeared aimed mainly at 64 army officers he dismissed last week. He reportedly believes they were to be the spearhead of a revolt.

In Santo Domingo, the Dominican foreign ministry issued a statement denying that Foreign Minister Andres Freitas had told the OAS mission he had word of an offer by Duvalier to Fidel Castro's regime of bases in Haiti.

The foreign office said Freitas instead told the OAS group that he had information Duvalier was offering bases to "anti-Castroites to provoke an attack or an irregular Castroite action from Cuba in Haiti."

Freitas also had been quoted as charging that Duvalier had close ties with Communist nations and had entered into some sort of arrangement with Czechoslovakia.

The foreign ministry said with regard to that point that Freitas had charged Duvalier has "been dealing with Iron Curtain countries in political and economic negotiations, the significance of which at the present moment is obvious."

The Associated Press, which had erroneously reported Freitas' statements, was unable to obtain comment on the charges from Duvalier or other Haitian officials.

McKee - Pitts to Wed

Open House was held Sunday, April 28 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie R. Huegal in Houston, to honor and announce the engagement of Marilyn S. McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kennic McKee, of Houston and formerly of Hope, to Jackie Lee Pitts of Fort Worth, son of Horace E. Pitts of Dallas and the late Mrs. Pitts.

The bride elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. Jewell V. Moore, Sr., and the late Jewell Moore. She is a 1961 graduate of Stephens F. Austin High School and attended Sam Houston State Teachers College of Huntsville.

Jackie is a graduate of Arlington State Jr. College and completed his Jr. year at the University of Cincinnati.

The wedding will be an event of May 25 at 4 p.m. in Arlington Heights Methodist Church of Fort Worth.

The couple will live in Fort Worth where Jackie will complete his education at Texas Christian University.

Anka and Brenda Lee are, but she never heard of Bing Crosby. She can spell the word "scientist."

When she brings home a report card marked "excellent" in four subjects, she is so proud she can't sleep and wakes up hollow-eyed. So do her parents.

The phone bill goes up month after month. But somehow you don't mind. It's exciting for you to know so many of her classmates want to talk with her.

She gets up early on Sunday to go to church. She is very interested in religion. She likes to say grace before meals. She speaks of God as if he were a neighbor. She shouts in anger less often, but cries more easily. She can't stand to see an animal in pain.

She plants onions and potatoes in water because she hungers to see things grow.

She keeps tadpoles and feeds them lettuce, and can't wait until they turn into frogs.

She begins to hoard money, collect stamps, and keep souvenirs of all kinds.

One day she says, "Daddy, did you ever watch me play jacks?" She shows you how she can pick up one to 10 jacks and never miss catching the bouncing rubber ball.

You feel the parental tears start as you watch her, because you realize she is letting you know in her own quiet way that this is a goodbye to her childhood.

Next year she won't be playing with jacks.

She is growing up—and growing away.

Conference Not Happy for JFK

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (P) — President Kennedy has some sunny times, when things are looking up, but Wednesday's news conference wasn't one of them.

Things were looking rather down in most of his answers to the main questions asked him about foreign affairs. It was only on domestic problems that he showed any optimism.

But three very important events since Kennedy's last meeting with newsmen April 3 didn't come up at Wednesday's session:

The steel industry raised prices, with Kennedy's consent; the atomic submarine Thresher sank with 129 men aboard; and the reported inclusion of three Central Intelligence Agents in this week's swap of Cuban and U.S. prisoners: four Cubans for 27 Americans.

No one at the news conference asked the President anything about the steel price increase and the mystery of the sunken Thresher wasn't mentioned at all.

He was asked only indirectly about the prisoner swap, and in this way:

Now that the Americans have been released, what will American policy be toward letting Cuban exiles in this country resume their hit-and-run raids on Cuba?

Kennedy brushed it off. He said discussions wouldn't be useful, but at another point said unleashing the exiles "cannot do the job."

He could have been asked to explain in some detail about the arrangements for the prisoner swap and if anything more than just the exchange lay behind it.

The President was dim on hopes for a nuclear test ban agreement with Russia, indicated no interest in a summit meeting with Premier Khrushchev or in a meeting with French President Charles de Gaulle at this time.

He was vague on hopes for getting rid of Castro or finding peace in Laos.

In a limited way he was optimistic about what Congress will do to his programs; he thinks money spent on space is worthwhile; and he thinks the economy is growing stronger.

Nuclear test ban—he wasn't very "sanguine" about getting Khrushchev to agree to one this spring. He said "we feel time is running out."

"If we fail in Laos," he said, "I would think the prospects for accords on matters which may be geographically closer to us would be substantially lessened."

A summit meeting with Khrushchev—Kennedy said none is planned and "it doesn't seem to me it would be useful unless we were in agreement upon a test ban, which we are not now."

Castro—Wednesday, as before, Kennedy gave no indication this

Chicot County Is Given Water Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., announced Tuesday that the Soil Conservation Service has notified him of allocation of $99,000 to the Crooked Bayou Watershed Project in Chicot County, Ark.

The money came through a savings on the Grady-Gould Watershed Project, which had been estimated at $278,000 but was contracted for recently for $185,000, the agency said.

country intends to do any more than it is doing now to get rid of the Communist dictator. And what it is doing now isn't getting rid of him.

De Gaulle—Kennedy showed no enthusiasm for a meeting with the Frenchman who threw the Allies into confusion by banning Britain from the Common Market and insists on developing his own nuclear weapons.

What Kennedy said in effect was: If the United States and France have anything to discuss, let their foreign ministers discuss it.

State's Tax Take Up 10 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Revenue Department reported Tuesday that state revenue collections for the past 10 months were $10.2 million higher than the corresponding 10 months of 1962.

The increase comes mostly from sales, income and gasoline taxes, the department said, with more than $6 million of the increase going to public schools and similar agencies.

The gasoline tax brought in $3,632,770 in April, compared to $3,412,054 a year ago. Income tax produced $3,060,707 last month and drivers license fees which support the State Police, increased from $30,490 in April last year to $34,557 last month.

In the last 10 months the department has collected $114,413,332. General Revenues totaled $86,554,082, and special revenues $57,859,152. Public schools and similar agencies get funds from general revenues.

3 Bitten by Dangerous Brown Spider

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—At least three persons in Little Rock have learned how venomous the Brown Recluse spider is.

A Little Rock physician said Tuesday he has treated two adults and a child for the bite of the tiny spider, which lurks in dark places in homes and other structures.

The recent meeting of the Arkansas Medical Society, the spider was described as having, drop for drop, a venom more poisonous than that of a rattlesnake.

The child was given aid immediately, the doctor said, and is recovering from the bite without complications.

The adults waited more than 12 hours to seek aid, and were in painful condition with swelling and inflammation, the physician said.

Mexico Town Is Gripped by Disease

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

ALAZAN, Mexico (AP) — "This small farm community in northern Tamaulipas State is the scene of a battle of humans against nature—and nature appears to have the upper hand."

Virtually all the 750 residents of the Alazan community are ill with diseases ranging from tuberculosis to diarrhea.

They are among thousands of Mexicans in the northern frontier area suffering from malnutrition and dehydration as the result of a prolonged drought and heat wave.

The victims are so isolated that doctors and nurses must use pickup trucks and vehicles with four-wheel drive to reach them with medicine, food and health information.

I bounced more than 200 miles over country roads, paths, ditches, and fields observing these poor farmers and their problems. Almost all of the more backward and deprived.

The farmers know nothing but tilling the soil. They depend on mother nature to make things turn out right. If she fails, they are lost.

"This year, she failed them. There has been no major rain."

The people have no corn to grind to make meal for tortillas. Beans, another staple in their diet, are shriveling to nothing on the vine. Cotton, the major cash crop for the small plot owners, is turning yellow less than six inches out of the seed.

Without corn and beans there is no food. No cotton means no clothes, no oil for lanterns, and no shoes.

The people live in shacks built of boards, in adobe huts, in the thatched lean-tos, and in one-room shanties made out of sticks and mud.

When the crops die, as they are dying now, there is no way to reseed the fields, because there is no more seed and no money to buy any.

$600,000 Bid on Dutch Painting

By MILES A. SMITH
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The soaring market in first class old masters has been marked by another entry in the record books.

"The Merry Lute Player," a masterpiece of the 17th century Dutch painter Franz Hals, brought a bid for $600,000 at the Parke-Bernet Galleries Wednesday night from London art dealer Edward Speelman, who sat at the London end of an open telephone line terminating in the auction rooms.

Speelman did not indicate whether he was acting as agent for anyone. One gallery official said it was believed a private collector in England was involved.

The price was an auction record for a Hals, and the third highest price ever paid at an American auction.

"The Merry Lute Player," 35½ by 29½ inches and painted about 1627, was one of 24 paintings auctioned from the collection of the late Oscar B. Cintas, a Cuban sugar and railroad magnate and one-time ambassador to the United States, who established a foundation to assist artists of Cuban lineage. In 46 minutes, the sale netted $1,200,500.

Cintas had paid $127,000 for this picture when the John R. Thompson collection was sold at Parke-Bernet in 1944.

Colorado Cuts Its Income Tax

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Colorado Legislature approved a 15 per cent cut in personal income taxes this year, effective with the 1962 returns.

But a state official says 75,000 persons failed to take advantage of the cut.

"We are absolutely unable to explain it," said Harold Drake, deputy state director of revenue.

Drake said the 75,000 taxpayers will get refunds as soon as state auditors refigure their returns.

evacuation of more than 14,000 school children.

Investigators ruled out theories that the odor Wednesday was caused by a major natural gas leak or excessive spraying of weed killing chemicals along the freeways.

Speedup for Mail System Is Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington: SAVE WITH ZIP: The Post Office Department will put ZIP into its service nationwide starting July 1.

ZIP—Zoning Improvement Plan—is designed to speed deliveries and save the government about $15 million in the first year.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day explained Tuesday that the plan is principally aimed at encouraging big business firms to use the five-digit ZIP-coded addresses on the billions of pieces of mail they send out annually.

The public should help, he said, by advising firms with which they do business—such as telephone companies and magazine publishers—of their code numbers.

Day said ZIP will eliminate up to six of the ten sorting and handling steps now needed on mail sent by big business houses.

CONTRIBUTION: "Many Teamsters Union members were Boy Scouts. Many Boy Scouts one day will be the Teamsters Union members."

With these words, Teamsters President James R. Hoffa Tuesday gave the Boy Scouts $336,000 on behalf of the union for construction of a new Scout center in Washington.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, former chief of naval operations and Scout fund campaign chairman in the capital area, accepted the gift and said Scout officials were "deeply grateful."

APPROVED: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Tuesday Chester Bowles' nomination for a second assignment as ambassador to India.

PARCEL RATES: Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., says he will introduce a bill to raise parcel post rates to bring in about $80 million more in revenue a year.

have there been some high prices for old masters in recent years?

Inflation is only part of the story. Art experts say the real explanation is simple. Most of the top items have been gathered into museums, and few come on the market any more.

The previous auction record for a Hals was $509,600, when his "Portrait of A Cavalier" was sold in London in 1960. A year earlier, a world record for a single painting at auction had been set at $770,000 in a London auction of Rubens' "Adoration of The Magi."

The all-time high was broken twice in one evening when the Erickson collection was sold at Parke-Bernet on Nov. 15, 1961. The Metropolitan Museum of New York paid $2.3 million for Rembrandt's "Aristotle Contemplating The Bust of Homer," and Fragonard's "La Liseuse," now in the National Gallery of Art in Washington, brought $875,000.

Chapter XXVIII

We'd just started down the hall toward the screen door when the patrolman Nichols had sent to the phone came after us. "Luck on our side, Captain," he said. "Doctor Hayburn's on his way. He remembers her all right. And the priest, this Father Moran, he's in New York. Staying overnight at the Roosevelt Hotel. He's out, but I left an urgent message for him to call."

"Have a prowl car stand by the hotel to pick him up," Nichols said.

She was still there, sitting on top of the brick wall. I thought she looked less relaxed; tense, as though it was getting closer.

"What do we do?" I whispered to Nichols.

"We try to find out what world she's moved into since we left her," Nichols whispered back. He was at the screen door. "Hi," he said, raising his voice.

She was looking down again. "How long would it take, Nichols?"

"To reach bottom?" he asked, steadily.

"Yes."

"Ten seconds, 20 seconds."

"Would you be dead before — before you — landed?"

Nichols chuckled. Boy, he was playing it fine! "Nobody's ever reported back," he said.

"You sound light hearted, she said."

"Would it do any good to tell you I'm aching with sympathy for you?"

His casual voice and manner were part of his volleys technique. Inside he was growing an ulcer.

"No! Because you're just doing a job."

"What did you want to be when you were a kid?" he asked out of nowhere.

Dawn giggled. "Marilyn Monroe," she said.

"She had her troubles," Nichols said.

"You're too smart, Nichols. Why don't you go away and let me think?"

"I'm trying to help you to think," he said. "You've got to think harder than you ever thought in your life. Dawn, and you're not used to it. I'm 30 years older than you are. I've had more practice. Tell me, when you were a kid and you fell down and bumped your head or got sick, who did you turn to?"

Her teeth gleamed white in the shadowy darkness. "Are you wondering why I want this final moment without my glamorous mother, Nichols? I'll bet in those 30 years you've got on me you never had to deal with a mother like Frances."

"She's worried sick about you at the moment."

Dawn's laughter grated on my nerves. "An act! Everything about her is an act, Nichols."

Nichols drew smoke deep into his lungs. He was walking a hair tightrope.

"Your father was the one you went to when you needed iodine on a cut or to have the pain kissed away out of a bump?" he asked.

"My father!" It was like a sudden cry of despair. "He didn't know I was alive. The only way I ever got any attention was by being very, very sick."

"Like now?" Nichols asked.

She laughed again. "I learned how to blow on the thermometer so it looked as though I had a high temperature. I was never really sick but I could fake it."

"What happened then?"

"There was a doctor," she said, and her voice went suddenly soft and warm.

"You liked the doctor?"

"He looked like a baby owl," she said. "Big round glasses — bald as an egg — smelling of pipe tobacco — and mints. I liked him because we had a secret."

"Oh?"

"He talked to me as though I was the grown-up one and Frances and my father were the children."

"Didn't he know you were blowing on the thermometer?"

"Of course he knew. He was a good doctor. He knew I needed help and attention. He'd give me medicine in front of my father, and then when we were alone, he'd tell me it was just sugar."

"You and I have to have an agreement," he said. "If you're ever really sick you won't play games with me."

"Did you agree?"

"Of course. It's funny, but he's the only person I ever shared a secret with."

Nichols head turned my way and his hand closed over my arm.

"See if that doctor is here yet," he whispered. "We're ready for him."

I hurried back down the carpeted hall. The timing was magical. Hayburn was just coming in the front door when I hit the living room. I recognized him instantly from Dawn's description. A baby owl, with a stubby black pipe between his teeth. A cop had filled him in on the way up, apparently. He went quickly across the room to Frances.

Happenings Around Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Northwest Arkansas poultrymen have a plan for publicizing the industry next month that bankers aren't looking forward to.

Poultrymen in the area have in mind the biggest Northwest Arkansas Poultry Festival ever, and to point up what the industry means to the state, companies taking part in the event would like to meet their May 1 payrolls with silver dollars.

The problem for the banks is handling the estimated 350,000 silver dollars it would take to pay the employees. The bankers are in complete accord with the idea of the festival, however.

The festival planners figure that by paying the employees in silver, the money will be noticeably circulated for a couple of weeks — until May 7, when residents of the four-county area turn out for the festival.

An eight-inch alligator named Pogo is the pet of the B company of the First Battalion of the Sixth Infantry at Ft. Hood, thanks to a West Memphis lady.

Gary L. Hardesty of West Memphis wrote his wife, saying the company had tried unsuccessfully to obtain an alligator, symbol of the outfit, while on maneuvers in south Georgia.

Mrs. Hardesty mentioned the problem to Mrs. Dean Smith, a sister-in-law, and while she was in Florida, she had the alligator shipped to the company.

Hardesty reports the only problem now is how to get the gator to learn to smoke a cigar — as the emblem of the outfit shows its mascot doing.

Kidnap Count on Burton Is Dismissed

RENO, Nev. (AP)—An Arkansas charge of kidnapping against James Burton Ing, 42, of Reno, was dismissed Tuesday by a justice of the peace who said it was improperly filed.

But the charge was expected to be filed again today. Justice William Beemer said Nevada had not received proper authority from Arkansas officers to hold Ing on a charge of kidnapping a Little Rock hospital clerk.

Ing was still held under $50,000 bond, however, on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Richard Tyler Lane, 31, also Reno, is being held on the same charge at Sacramento, Calif., where he was arrested Sunday. He is held under $100,000 bond.

Lane's wife, Cecile May, 26, also of Reno, is being sought in the case.

The trio was charged by Prosecutor John T. Jernigan at Little Rock last week with kidnapping William O. Bonds, 54. He was taken by three persons to a lake near Little Rock and tortured in what police said was an attempt to get the hospital room number of James Dean Walker, 25, of Reno. He was hospitalized after a shooting at North Little Rock and is charged with first degree murder in the slaying of North Little Rock policeman J. F. Vaughan.

Jernigan said the dismissal of the charge was a technicality and that Ing would again be charged and arraigned for kidnapping.

Walker's companion at the time of the shooting, Russell Freeman Kumpke, is being held under $20,000 bond in the Pulaski County Jail. Walker has been transferred to

Spends Own Cash to Tell the Gospel

By HARRY A. HAINES
Editor, Blytheville, Ark.

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One night in 1953, Paul Kirkindall propped a Bible against the twin beer spigots of his tavern and began preaching the Gospel.

Since that time he has spent $31,000 of his own funds in a new career as pastor of this town's most dispirited citizens.

Once a gambler known over the Southern and Midwestern states,

Cummins Prison Farm. Ing and Lane both have said they were in Reno at the time of the kidnapping.

Brain Hall, Ing's attorney, said he might file in federal court for a writ to dismiss the federal charge.

Paul Kirkindall underwent a sudden transformation.

Today he heads Blytheville's Mississippi County Union Mission which has an annual budget of $31,000. The mission is governed by some of the area's most prominent business and professional men. It serves thousands of poor people in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week; visits hospitals; personally screens applicants for food and clothing; calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

Kirkindall, 52, has done his job so well that last month he was offered an annual salary of $10,000, plus a home, car and certain expenses to take over a mission in an Eastern city.

"I don't think the Lord wanted me to go," Kirkindall said.

He makes $300 a month in his present job. Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me sometimes," Kirkindall said, "people in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?"

"Because once they learn what I was and then get some idea of what I stand for today, they know I've just gotta be sincere."

His about-face took him completely by surprise, says Kirkindall.

"I was making good money as a gambler. I wasn't broke. I was drinking too much though. A good gambler shouldn't drink."

But one night Kirkindall accompanied his wife to church.

"I thought every word that preacher said was directed toward me and I was burned up. I figured I'd beat this guy up some day."

And then, he said, when the in-itation was given to come forward, "I found myself walking down the aisle to the front of the church. I thought, 'This is crazy. Don't go down there.' But I couldn't help it and I went up there and gave myself to Christ."

As soon as he got out of church he locked the doors to his small, tavern and suspended gambling in the pool hall which was under his management.

He quit drinking, bought a Bible and began a series of speaking appearances in churches over Arkansas, Texas and Missouri.

Usually he didn't even make expenses. Kirkindall's mission has long since outgrown his tavern where he once stood behind the bar each evening and preached to a handful of people. Presently the mission is a large structure in Blytheville's business district. The building includes a dormitory where as many as 25 men sometimes sleep.

Man Wanted for Arkansas Kidnaping

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Richard Tyler Lane, 32, wanted in Arkansas in connection with a kidnaping a week ago, is to go before U.S. Commissioner Adelia McCabe in Sacramento today.

Lane, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a former boxer, was arrested Sunday in a Sacramento hotel.

His was the second arrest made in connection with the kidnaping April 23 of William O. Bonds, night cashier at Arkansas Baptist hospital in Little Rock, Ark.

Agents in Reno, Nev., picked James Burton Ing at his home in Reno last Friday. He was arraigned in Justice Court on federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and is to be extradited to Arkansas May 27 to face kidnaping charges filed by the state.

The unlawful flight charges, authorized by U.S. Atty. Robert D. Smith in Little Rock Saturday, also are against Lane and his 26-year-old alleged wife, Cecile. She was not with him at the hotel, Brusch said, and is still at large.

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Little Rock, said he understood that Lane claimed to be shooting pool in Reno at the time when Bonds was kidnaped.

Lane, his alleged wife and Ing allegedly beat and tortured Bonds in an attempt to extort from him the hospital room number of James Dean Walker, the FBI said.

Walker was hospitalized after a shooting two weeks ago in which Jerrell Vaughan, a North Little Rock policeman, was killed. Another man with Walker — Russell Freeman Kumpe — was wounded in the shooting. He is being held under $20,000 bond in the Pulaski County Jail at Little Rock.

Walker has been transferred to the Arkansas State Penitentiary since the kidnaping for "security reasons," according to Prosecutor John T. Jernigan of Little Rock. Jernigan filed the kidnaping charges against the trio.

Bonds was taken to a lake near Little Rock where he was held beneath the water and cut on the face and abdomen by his abductors. He was released after unidentified cars appeared along the highway which passes the lake.

Ing was arraigned in Reno and bond was set at $50,000 Saturday. Jernigan had recommended $50,000 bond for all three persons charged with kidnaping.

Walker is being held without bond.

Ing and Walker were linked after a trunk of old coins valued at more than $5,000 was shipped to Ing, allegedly by Walker, from Missouri, the FBI said.

Ing claimed that he was in Reno during the time of the kidnaping and said more than 20 persons saw him, including a Reno policeman who he says stopped Ing while he was driving a light truck to the city dump.

Two cameras, allegedly stolen by Walker from a parked car, were found in the basement of the Twenty-Two Club in Reno last year. Ing, who has an interest in the tavern, was arrested on charges of receiving stolen property. The case is pending in Washoe County District Court.

Three other charges against Ing are pending. They are attempted murder, being an ex-felon in possession of a firearm and burglary. He is free on $23,000 pending trials.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Seventeen women students have entered the Miss University of Arkansas contest, which will be held Friday in Fayetteville. Contest winner represents the university in the Miss Arkansas Pageant this summer in Hot Springs. Shirley Thomas of North Little Rock is the reigning Miss U. of A.

Says Nuclear Plant on Sub Can't Explode

By JAMES CALOGERO

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, director of nuclear propulsion for the Navy, said today it was impossible for the nuclear plant on ill-fated submarine Thresher to explode.

Rickover told a naval court of inquiry: "Nuclear reactors in submarines and surface ships are designed to minimize hazards under any conditions."

He added: "It is physically impossible for nuclear plants on ships to explode like a bomb."

Rickover testified that "in event of a serious accident fuel elements will remain intact and none would be released."

Rickover, known as the father of the atomic submarine, also testified that at the 8,400-foot depth at which the Thresher is believed to lie 220 miles off the Massachusetts coast, the sea water served to cool the fuel system and "provides further safeguards against melting."

The Thresher, first of a new class of nuclear-powered attack submarines sank April 10 with 129 aboard.

Rickover said no atomic radiation has been released by the Thresher's last known position, show "absolutely no evidence of radioactivity up to yesterday afternoon and none is expected," he said.

Rickover, today's first witness before a court of inquiry trying to learn what caused the loss of the Thresher testified for about 15 minutes in open court.

Immediately afterward the court went into closed session, barring press and public, to hear testimony of a classified nature.

During the open session, Rickover praised the caliber of the men chosen for service on nuclear submarines.

The admiral was on board the Thresher when she made her first deep test dive after she was built at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

Scientists at Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution said efforts to pinpoint the location of the sunken submarine have been fruitless to date.

The Atlantis II returned to Woods Hole Saturday. Scientists on board said photographs were taken of the ocean bottom but the Thresher did not appear on any.

In Boston, the bathyscaphe Trieste underwent surface tests and is scheduled to make a test dive Thursday.

TV Oscars Are Due on 26th of May

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The television's equivalent of the motion picture Oscars are the golden Emmy Awards, which will be presented to the winners in 30-count 'em 30—categories during a 90-minute NBC broadcast on May 26.

Meanwhile, the 6,000 members of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences scattered through nine chapters around the country and in various television jobs will be casting their ballots for some of the 140 or more candidates.

The very nature of television suggests that the voters must have missed some or many of the programs and performances nominated for honors.

Unlike a motion picture, a television program usually is broadcast once and then vanishes, if not forever, at least until summer rerun time. It is logical to assume that many of the eligible voters had bridge dates, went bowling, were fixing leaky faucets or—even more logical—watching a program on another network when some of the selected programs had their exposure.

(In this connection, ABC is playing it smart: it is rerunning "The Voice of Charlie Pont" Thursday night on its "Premier" program. That drama in the anthology series is up for honors in several categories, including "Show of the Year.")

There is also a basically troublesome area in trying to contain television shows in even 30 categories. In the "Show of the Year" category, for instance, an amusing hour of comedy and music, "The Danny Kaye Show with Lucille Ball," is pitted against "The Tunnel," a documentary photographed during the actual digging of a Berlin escape route.

How does one choose between two programs at opposite poles? The other two candidates for top honors are a two-part drama, "The Madman" in the "Defenders" series, and "The Voice of Charlie Pont"—altogether an impossible quartet from which to make a sensible choice.

Recommended tonight: "CBS Reports," 7:30-8:30 (EDT)—Walter Lippmann, news analyst and columnist, is interviewed on world affairs of the past few months; "The Many Ways of Heaven," CBS, 10-11—Dan Duryea and Cloris Leachman in a Steel Hour drama.

ARKANSAS CHICKEN COOKIN' QUEEN CONTEST PRIZES

LITTLE ROCK—Mrs. Bobby Campbell of Hope, reigning Arkansas Chicken Cookin' Queen, presents prizes to be awarded winners in the 1963 chicken cookin' contest to be held here June 14-15 during the 4th annual Arkansas Poultry Festival. The prizes, valued at over $1,250, are offered by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. in cooperation with the Arkansas Poultry Federation. Winner receives an all-gas automatic range, while 1st runner-up wins a Freway gas dishwasher and 2nd runner-up gets a gas clothes dryer.

Statistics Show Decline in Births

WASHINGTON (AP)—Births continued to decline during February, but the death rate was up under the impact of the winter's influenza epidemic.

It was the 20th consecutive month that the birth rate has gone down in comparison to similar months a year earlier.

The Public Health Service, reporting these statistics today, said the winter's influenza epidemic had a heavy impact on the death rate. February's rate of 11.2 per thousand population was among the highest monthly rate recorded in four epidemics since 1957.

And, this monthly report said there were indications that the March death rate may go even higher than that of February.

An estimated 314,000 babies were born during February compared with 318,000 a year earlier. The rate was down to 21.8 per thousand population from 22.4, a drop of about 3 per cent. The fertility rate of 109 live births per thousand women in the childbearing ages was also down 3 per cent.

"The 12-month cumulative figures indicate a deepening in the decline of the birth rate," the report said. It said that the decline for the 12 months ended with

February was 3.9 per cent from the rate for the corresponding period ending in 1962. By the same 12-month comparison, the decline was 2.1 per cent from 1961 to 1962.

Umbricht Is Saved by New Operation

By B. F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP)—Only surgical techniques discovered within the last five years prevented the amputation of Jim Umbricht's cancerous right leg seven weeks ago. Today, the big Houston Colts' right-handed pitcher is well on the road to recovery and insists, "I should have at least five or six good baseball years left. I feel like a 20-year-old." He is 32.

Umbricht, who posted a 4-0 record for the Colts and was 3-4 with Oklahoma City of the American Association last season, underwent a six-hour operation March 7 after the discovery of the rare, but lethal tumor "black mole" cancer.

Doctors at the (University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital said "black mole" cancer gets its name because the first sign is usually a black mole on the arm or leg. The cancer cells usually travel rapidly up the limb or to other parts of the body.

In Umbricht's case, cancer had spread only to the groin. A cancerous lump was removed. Big Jim says his doctors feel the malignancy was arrested in time and should not reappear.

Umbricht credits early detection of the cancer and his good physical condition for the success of the surgery. He initially mentioned the lump to a doctor during spring training at Apache Junction, (Ariz.) The physician

DOROTHY DIX

SO-CALLED FRIEND
THREATENS TO TELL

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My girl friend got involved with a married man last summer. He told her the only reason he stayed with his wife was their son. He spent a lot of time at my friend's. He told her his wife guessed he had a sweet heart but didn't know who it was. He took his wife out only twice all last year but lavished money and presents on my girl friend. Now he and she have broken up but she wants him back; calls his home (his wife hangs up), drives by their house and makes a general pest of herself. I think it's dreadful and have threatened to tell his wife her name. She says I'd better not. Should I? — Steady Reader

Dear Steady: Of course not! Your girl friend is riding for a advised further examination. In the operation called "perfusion" which has been performed on only 169 others, the leg was tied off with a tourniquet. Tubing was inserted in the leg. Drugs were circulated through use of the same kind of pumps used on a heart lung machine. The leg was washed five hours with drugs. Doctors said this was done in an effort to kill any cancer cells that might have been lurking in the leg and start a cancer in another part of the body. Umbricht says he has no pain in the leg, only a tightness at times.

fall but that's none of your business. Why be so self-righteous? If savors of envy. No real person would ever betray a friend, no matter what. Copy that old adage, "Silence is Golden" on a card and tuck it in your mirror where you'll see it every day.

Dear Helen: I don't go along with you when you oppose teenage marriage, as you did in a recent column.

I was only 15 and my husband 18 when we married. Now I'm the mother of three children and expecting my fourth this month. Age doesn't matter if the boy and girl are truly in love. My husband doesn't make $100 a week but we pull together with what little bit there is, are thankful for our family and try to build a future for ourselves and the children. — Mrs. Disagree

Dear Mrs. Disagree: You are the exception to the rule. Three cheers for your sincerity. But, your experience to the contrary, statistics continue to prove that teen marriages send the divorce rate soaring.

Dear Helen: My neighbor in the next house will not say "Hello," unless it's said to her first. She pretends not to see anyone rather than greet them. I thought she acted so only with me, but have since heard she's this way with everyone. Her daughter has this same peculiar way.

Please tell them it's much easier greeting people than pretending not to see them. Just how do you go about treating this type of person? (She reads your column.) —Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Give the neighbor and her daughter the benefit of the doubt. Maybe they're near sighted. Whatever the reason, I sighted. Continue to greet them pleasantly and in the doing perhaps elevate them to your level of good manners. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "A Sense of Humor."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U.S. Nears Showdown in Panamerican

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The U.S. raid on track and field gold medals could hit a real snag in the fourth Pan-American Games today with the Yanks facing a battle in all four men's finals and the wrap-up of the decathlon.

Although the U.S.A. captured six of the eight men's events in three track sessions since Saturday, Latin American opposition is bristling in the 200-meter sprint, 400-meter hurdles and 10,000-meter run, while Canadians appear the men to beat in the 800-meter run and the payoff round of the decathlon.

Meanwhile, the United States continued its monotonous harvest of gold medals with 68 for all sports since the Games started April 20.

For the first time since Cuba's Rafael Fortun Chacon was a double winner in the opening Pan-Am meet at Buenos Aires in 1951, the U.S.A. could suffer a gold medal blanking in both the 100- and 200-meter sprints.

Cuba's Enrique Figueroa grabbed the 100 meter crown Sunday and Wednesday a pair of fleet Venezuelans — Arquimedes Herrera and Rafael Romero — and Trinidad's Clift Bertrand may gang up on the U. S.'s lone 200-meter finalist, Lt. Ollan Cassell of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

In the 800-meter run, also fancied an American forte, Canada's Don Bertoia and Sig Ohlemann look mighty tough for Ernie Dotson, ex-Kansas runner.

All the Yank pair of balding Pete Mc Ardle, Ireland-born New Yorker, and John Gutknecht, Chapel Hill, N.C., has to beat in the 10,000-meter grind is Argentina's great Osvaldo Suarez, seeking his third successive Pan-Am title, and Canada's Doug Kyle, 1959 runner-up.

With the decathlon entering its final five events—the discus, pole vault, 100-meter hurdles, javelin and 1,500 run—it appeared unlikely the half-way leader, Venezuela's Hector Thomas Martinez, could maintain his spritely pace of Tuesday.

Both U.S. contenders, Russ Hodge of Roscoe, N.Y., J. D. Martin of Norman, Okla., are moving into their strong events. But they could have trouble with versatile Doug Gairdner, the Canadian champion.

AD COUNCIL CHIEF — William R. Baker Jr., above, has been elected chairman of the board of the Advertising Council. He is also honorary chairman of Benton and Bowles advertising agency.

Harris Is Commended for Measure

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., is being congratulated by colleagues for the way he handled the educational assistance bill in two days of rough House debate.

It was Harris' lot to guide the bill through because he is chairman of the House Commerce Committee. It was his job to explain it and defend it from attack. This requires constant attendance on the floor during the debate, a thorough knowledge of the bill's purpose, and the ability to give quick answers and retorts to critics.

Despite heavy opposition—mostly from Republicans—Harris got the bill through almost intact.

It sets up a three-year $175 million program to aid in construction of educational facilities to train physicians, pharmacists, nurses, dentists and public health personnel. It also provides a $30.7 million loan program for students in medicine, dentistry and osteopathy.

Harris said the bill was a "health bill" and not an aid to education bill. He said the country is spending big sums for research to protect and preserve health.

"But research alone cannot cure people," he added. "Hospitals and other health facilities alone cannot cure sick people. Robot machines and computers to supply health services are not in existence as yet. For the time being we shall have to rely on professional health personnel to render health services."

Harris said there is a bottleneck in the inadequacy of present facilities in which doctors and dentists are trained and the bill would solve the problem.

Democrats repulsed a Republican effort to eliminate the student loan fund authorization from the bill by a vote of 239 to 171 and passed the bill a few minutes later 288 to 122.

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Basketball Association, basking in the glow of a 35 per cent regular season gate increase, will name the second president in its 17-year history today, in the final session of the annual meeting.

J. Walter Kennedy, 49-year-old mayor of Stamford, Conn., and former NBA press chief, is in line for the post.

Kennedy has written out his resignation as mayor. The NBA has called a news conference today, presumably to announce Kennedy's appointment as successor to Maurice Podoloff, the only chief the pro league has had since its 1946 founding.

Podoloff is retiring. His contract expires today. Podoloff's last official act was to provide over the annual draft meeting Tuesday, at which the nine teams picked over a relatively indifferent crop of college stars.

Podoloff also announced a 35 per cent NBA gate increase last season, and a 25 per cent boost in playoff game receipts.

The New York Knicks, cellar team last year, grabbed the only two All-Americans available in the draft, Art Heyman of Duke and Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola.

They made Heyman the No. 1 pick after the Cincinnati Royals had tabbed Tom Thacker of the University of Cincinnati as a territorial choice.

San Francisco sprang a surprise naming Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green, a 6-foot-11 center. The Warriors, picking third, had been expected to strengthen their back court, since they have 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain at center. Detroit, picking fourth, wanted Thurmond.

Communists Show Gains in Italy

By GERALD MILLER
ROME (AP) — The Communist left and the liberal right made unprecedented gains in Italy's parliamentary election, nearly complete returns showed today.

Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democratic party received its worst beating.

The outcome of weekend voting for a new Chamber of Deputies and Senate showed a political upheaval that raised a big question mark over Fanfani and his experiment in left-leaning government for Italy, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

First in the Senate, then in the chamber, the Communists pushed their total popular vote above the 25 per cent mark.

And in both houses the Christian Democrats—who led Italy out of postwar ruin to economic boom—slumped below the 40 per cent level.

The Italian Communist party—the biggest such party outside the Red sphere and second biggest in Italy—improved by almost 4 percentage points over its showing in the last general election, in 1958.

Communists were jubilant at the outcome. The party boss, Moscow-trained Palmiro Togliatti, said it was a "real victory," "better than our forecasts and hopes."

Fanfani withheld comment. His campaign workers watched the returns with gloom.

The results were astounding in an election where little change had been anticipated.

There was a surprising flight of voters from the Christian Democratic party in both directions—to left and right.

In both houses, for the first time, the Communists and Marxist Socialist parties together polled more votes than the Christian Democrats.

Over all, the parties backing Fanfani's "opening to the left" maintained a majority in the new Parliament, though their edge over the opposition was reduced.

There was no chance of a Christian Democratic majority, but one had not been expected.

Photographer Refuses Lie Detector Test

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York City photographer says he refused to take a lie detector test concerning his assertion that he participated in a Cuban exile bombing raid on Havana area oil refineries last week.

Alexander I. Rorke Jr., 36, told a meeting of 50 anti-Castro Cubans Sunday night that U.S. customs officials in Miami asked him to take the test after he held a news conference there Sunday.

Customs officials were not immediately available for comment. Rorke flew back to New York following the news conference, in which he said his civil rights, and those of his partner in a Waterbury, Conn., plane charter service, were being violated by the U.S. government.

An official of the Federal Aviation Agency said earlier Sunday that the FAA had notified Rorke and his partner, Geoffrey Sullivan, that they are subject to fines of $13,000 each if it is proved they violated civil air regulations by flying to and from Cuba.

"It is a rather serious thing for the government to charge us with violations and say we are to be fined for flying to Cuba and back, because it implies that the United States is defenseless," Rorke told newsmen in Miami.

Rorke said in Miami that if the government charges were true, it meant he had left and returned to the United States without being detected by U.S. radar.

In fact, he said, his starting point for the Cuban raid wasn't the continental United States at

All Greene County to Vote on Judge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office ruled today that all residents of Greene County have a right to vote for the municipal judge at Paragould.

A question arose after the 1963 legislature abolished a state-created Paragould court and the Paragould City Council enacted an ordinance establishing a new one. The ordinance did not set forth voter qualifications.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard B. Adkisson said in a letter to Glen F. Evans, secretary of the Greene County Democratic Central Committee, that the offices of municipal judge and clerk at Paragould now come under a 1951 act covering counties in the 29,000 to 29,200 population range.

The act stipulates that municipal courts in such counties shall have countywide jurisdiction and that all voters of the county shall have a say in election of the judge and clerk.

"I went to a rendezvous point" and boarded a PBY—amphibian plane—in the water, Rorke said. "It was from a point south of Cuba. It was the plane used in the raid."

He maintained that "all Mr. Sullivan did was fly me to Florida. Later he met me in Jacksonville to fly me to Washington."

Sullivan, a former Air Force and commercial air lines pilot, earlier had told newsmen in Waterbury, Conn., virtually the same thing. He said he flew Rorke only as far as West Palm Beach last Monday and then flew him back to Washington Friday after Rorke allegedly participated in the raid.

Deliberations Ready in Murder Case

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Prosecutor Lyman Mikel demanded the death penalty for Frederick Rush today for the slaying of his wealthy stepfather as Rush's week-long murder trial neared its end.

The case was expected to go to the jury about noon.

Rush sat impassively as Mikel told the jury in his closing argument "Frederick Rush didn't have the guts to pull the trigger on the gun that killed Paul (Rush) but I feel confident you'll have the guts to pull the switch on him."

Mrs. Virginia Rush, mother of the defendant and wife of the murder victim, burst into tears at this point and again when Mikel reviewed the state's version of how Paul Rush was fatally shot in the darkened basement of his factory building last May 13.

The state contends Frederick Rush, Raymond Wood and Carolyn Brown plotted the slaying so Frederick Rush would inherit one-third of his stepfather's estate, and that Wood pulled the trigger. He and Miss Brown are to be tried later.

Mikel belittled the defense's argument that the elder Rush was slain by a burglar.

"Burglars don't come to kill people," he said. "A burglar would have run when someone came."

Rush said Wood and Miss Brown went to Mt. Vista, near Van Buren, on the night of the shooting so they would have an alibi and Wood fired a pistol so he would have an excuse for powder burns on his hands if he were arrested after the shooting of Paul Rush.

Both Wood, 21, of Roland, Okla., and Miss Brown, 21, of Fort Smith testified they were target shooting on Mt. Vista when Rush was slain.

They also are charged with first degree murder.

The defense rested its case Monday after Rush testified in his own behalf. He said he and his stepfather always had maintained a very close personal relationship.

Attorneys for the state and the defense have been allotted one hour apiece for closing arguments today.

Rush contended that he and the elder Rush went to the building to investigate a light he spotted burning on the third floor of the building. The shooting occurred, he said, after the light had been

Rain Tapers Off in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rains tapered off today as a wet belt spread eastward from the mid-continent after an outbreak of damaging storms from Texas and the lower Mississippi Valley into the midwest.

Tornadoes ripped across Texas, Kansas and Nebraska Sunday. The twisters killed one girl, injured dozens of persons and caused widespread property damage.

Violent wind, rain and hail could see behind her testimony storms pounded the heart of Texas.

Heaviest damage, estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, was in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. Winds up to 98 m.p.h. lashed Fort Worth before the storm swept into Dallas, 30 miles away.

Several tornadoes and severe thunderstorms struck across north turned off and he and his father went to the basement of the building.

Rush said he did not call police because his stepfather told him to come by and pick him up to check on the light.

Mrs. Virginia Rush, his mother, and John Richards, a former employee of Paul Rush, backed up the younger Rush's testimony on the stand.

He was only following instructions when he took up to $400 a week out of the company, in addition to his salary of $95 a week, Rush said.

And when his mother decided to sell the company after the slaying he assigned his 60 shares of stock to her, he testified. He said he received no insurance money from Paul Rush's estate.

Mrs. Rush testified that Frederick had come to her and Paul Rush frequently for additional money and if they didn't have the amount he needed he was allowed to take it out of the company.

Raymond Wood, 21, of Roland, Okla., and Carolyn Brown, 20, a native of Booneville, also are charged in the case. They are to be tried at later dates.

Wood and Rush both testified Monday that Mrs. Pat Taylor 24, a former girlfriend of Rush's, had told them she was offered $5,000 to "cooperate in breaking this case."

Rush said the only thing he was a desire for money and to get even with him for breaking off their romance in January.

Mrs. Taylor testified previously that she heard the younger Rush, Wood and Miss Brown plotting the killing.

She said Frederick had told her he wanted Paul dead because he hated his stepfather, because he didn't want the V&R Sales Co. closed and because he stood to inherit one-third of Paul Rush's estate.

Castro Views Red Rockets in Russia

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Fidel Castro got another fleeting glimpse today of the types of Soviet rockets Premier Khrushchev pulled out of Cuba last year at President Kennedy's insistence.

The Cuban prime minister appeared with Khrushchev in the place of honor atop the Lenin mausoleum at the annual May Day parade in Red Square.

He appeared to enjoy the military review and workers' parade, which U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler boycotted because of Castro's presence. Kohler watched the celebration on a television set in his residence.

Castro conversed animatedly with Khrushchev as the Soviets rolled out a 10-minute review of their military hardware.

Among the weapons that sped past the reviewing stand were 500 to 700-mile range rockets similar to those withdrawn from Cuba during last year's crisis. Western observers spotted nothing new among the rockets shown.

The Cuban leader reportedly was deeply offended by Khrushchev's failure to notify him in advance of the decision to withdraw the rockets under American pressure.

Castro, dressed in white shirt, tie and dress uniform, for the first time since he arrived in the Soviet Union last weekend, was the center of attraction in Red Square. Khrushchev enthusiastically led him the length of the reviewing

School Guard Is Killed in Crash

LYNBROOK, N.Y. (AP) — A woman school crossing guard who tried to flag down two fire trucks approaching each other at right angles was killed Tuesday when the vehicles collided. One fireman also died and nine others were injured, two critically.

One engine slammed into the rear of the other, which then struck Rosalie Roy, 37, the crossing guard, a mother of three, before plowing into a utility pole.

stand to let the crowds catch a glimpse of the revolutionary leader.

Castro listened quietly as the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, charged "reactionary circles" of the United States with a policy of aggression and provocations against Cuba "in gross violation of the elementary standards of international law."

Malinovsky declared that Soviet forces are always ready to "ensure the complete debacle of any aggressor who enforces on the peaceful labor, freedom and independence of the U.S.S.R. and other Socialist countries."

No Crisis in White House Reception

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — This time, the congressional reception at the White House came and went without a crisis—unless you count a few broken dishes.

President Kennedy and the Democrats were in a particularly jovial mood Thursday night. Before the party broke up at midnight, guests even danced a rollicking polka in the East Ballroom.

For two straight years, the night in April that President Kennedy invited Congress to come around to his house for a social get-together turned out to be a night of crisis.

In 1961 it was the U.S.-backed Bay of Pigs invasion by Cuban refugees. Last year it was the steel price showdown.

But Thursday night the jinx had gone. The Congress itself had taken a few turns favorable to the President's program, including approval Thursday of a measure which would extend basic price supports on feed grains.

Kennedy spent almost an hour and a half shaking hands and chatting with many of the 1,000 invited guests.

The President entertained legislative leaders of both parties in his private living quarters before

Makes Good on Gunsmoke Program

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Burt Reynolds is a lean, good-looking Floridian who has made good at a difficult assignment, joining the "Gunsmoke" family.

The quadrumvirate of James Arness, Dennis Weaver, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone is perhaps the tightest troupe in television. They have worked in close association for eight years. Their fan following approaches a cult.

Last year "Gunsmoke" faced a crisis when Dennis announced he was leaving the series for the greener pastures of his own show. Since "Gunsmoke" represents an investment of many millions, there was great concern about replacing the gimpy Chester.

Three hundred rugged young actors were screened. Burt Reynolds returned from a New York play to join the horde a few days before the decision was to be made. Arness listened to him read some lines, nodded, and Burt was one of two actors chosen.

The idea was to put both in a show and see which one drew the most response. Burt, who played a part-Indian, won.

made. Arness listened to him read some lines, nodded, and Burt was one of two actors chosen.

The idea was to put both in a show and see which one drew the most response. Burt, who played a part-Indian, won.

"There was a flood of mail from Indians and people in Florida," confided the Palm Beach boy.

So he got the job. But what about joining the team?

"Jim was for me from the start, so that was no worry," he said. "I don't mean we are close friends, because nobody gets close to Jim. That's the way he is."

"With Milburn and Amanda, it was another matter. They had been pulling for the other actor to win, so there was some resentment. But in time we became the closest of friends, as people often do after an initial antagonism. I have dinner with one of them at least once a week."

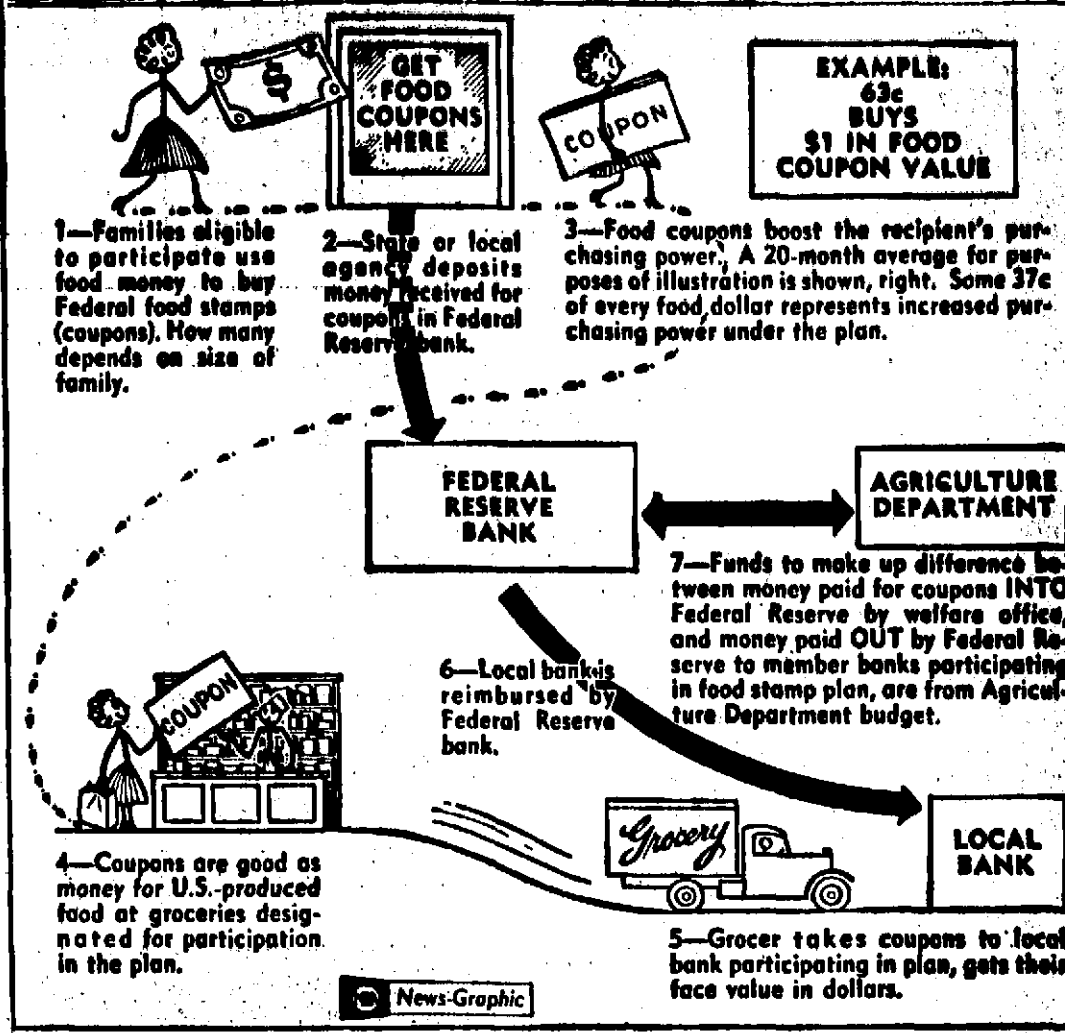

"As for Dennis (who returned on a limited basis when his show didn't), I hardly know him. We've only done two shows together."

Burt plays Quint Asper, the Dodge City blacksmith who is sometimes victimized by Indian-hating citizens. "I don't join in the coffee-talk with the other four," he explained. "When I enter the story I'm doing something—involved in some kind of action. That's fine with me."

"Gunsmoke" seems to be going on and on. How long does Burt want to stay with it?

"Until it ends," he said.

Pilot Food Stamp Plan Helps Fill Low-Income Market Basket

FOOD STAMP PROGRAM EXPANDS—With Pittsburgh joining Detroit and St. Louis in participation under the Agriculture Department's pilot food stamp program, the end-of-June target comes closer to realization: 44 counties nationwide, in addition to the three cities mentioned. The "stamps" are actually coupons. Purpose: to provide low-income families with additional food purchasing power through use of coupons with which they buy their own food at retail stores participating in the plan. The experimental plan serves in place of the family food distribution program in areas in which it now operates. How the program works is shown in News-Graphic, above. In addition, federal-state-county-city agreements must be made, retail outlets and participating banks approved, and state and local welfare agencies ready for stamp distribution. Agencies also determine which families are eligible to participate, and how many coupons families receive, based on family size and income.

Predicts a Power Shift to the West

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., predicted Monday night a "decisive shift in power to the West which he said could permanently end the possibility of Soviet expansion."

But he said it would bring dangers, too.

Fulbright's opinion came in the first of three William L. Clayton lectures at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University.

"The Soviets are confronted with a great and growing new weight on the western side of the power scale, with no commensurate growth of power on the east side," said Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But, he said, "It would be a profoundly ironic tragedy if the growing strength and unity of the West, instead of providing it with security and peace, were instead to provoke an act of desperation on the part of a powerful adversary who had become convinced that he must either strike or perish."

Fulbright was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree in ceremonies preceding the lecture. The senator ranged over topics of foreign policy and related issues.

"It is difficult," he said, "to understand how many Americans, including members of Congress, who do not claim expert knowledge in the field of nuclear test ban negotiations, have come to hold fervent opinions on the appropriate number of inspections."

Fulbright said ultimately the cold war will be won or lost, not at pressure points like Berlin or Vietnam, but by what happens within each society involved.

TV Poses Problem for Night Clubs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Constant television viewing has created a new problem for night club and stage performers, says singer Rosemary Clooney, who encounters it.

"Audiences, accustomed to watching entertainment at home, have gotten into the habit of talking during performances," she explained. "Then, when they go to a club or a theater, they keep it up."

Rosie, whose working schedule these days is so hectic that she has been home about four weeks out of the past four months, tackles the problem of the chatty audience in a forthright fashion.

"I tell them that I'm flesh and blood, that I'm not on a screen, that I can hear them as well as they can hear me—and that it distracts me," she said. "The worst of it is, none of them realize the habit they've gotten into."

Miss Clooney's New York schedule has been as full as usual. She'll be guest-starring on "The Garry Moore Show" tonight, fruit of a week's rehearsals. Monday she had a reunion with Arthur Godfrey on his CBS Radio show—"first time we've appeared together since I won a 'Talent Scout' show singing 'Golden Earrings' and that was so far back it was a simulcast on radio and television." She was a panelist on "Password" Monday night.

She is eager to talk about heartening indications that popular music is moving toward higher ground.

"Things are really looking up," she insists. "There have been some great songs recently—'What Kind of Fool Am I,' 'San Francisco' and 'As Long as She Needs Me,' to mention a few. They are well constructed with good melodies and fine lyrics."

Development Planned at Hot Springs

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $3 million residential and recreational real estate complex plan near Hot Springs was outlined Monday by Mid-Continent Corp., a diversified development and investment company.

The development calls for 100 duplex cottages, a central building and 485 home sites on a 530-acre tract at Ozarka Springs, four miles east of Hot Springs on U.S. Highway 70.

The plan also includes an 18-hole golf course, two lakes and horseback riding as recreational facilities.

Mid-Continent, which was formed about five years ago, plans to offer $1 million in 6 per cent convertible debentures, callable in 10 years.

Robert H. Long, sales manager of Mid-Continent's Securities Division, said the firm would finance the rest of the project internally. Construction has begun, home sites will be marketed this summer and golf courses and rental facilities will be finished next year, a spokesman said.

Mid-Continent's holdings now include Better Built Homes, Inc., real estate and other forms of securities and investments.

George Kell of Swift, who played major league baseball—mostly with Detroit of the American League—is president of Mid-Continent.

Other officers are Ray Rowland, executive vice president; Charles E. Daniel, vice president; and F. L. Orman, secretary-treasurer.

Me, to mention a few. They are well constructed with good melodies and fine lyrics."
